

balance!
Health Care

GP superclinics
better healthcare for Australians

9 September 2009

Media Release

UK doctor joins the Blue Mountains GP Super Clinic

Dr Lili Jones has relocated from the United Kingdom to join the Blue Mountains GP Super Clinic at the Blackheath Family Medical Centre.

'Blackheath is a stunning location and I'm so proud to be a part of this community,' says Dr Jones. 'I look forward to making a positive difference to the lives of Blue Mountains residents. The task is so much easier thanks to the professional team, friendly patients and world class technology.'

GP Super Clinics are part of a $275 million initiative by the Rudd Government to improve the medical facilities in communities around Australia. Balance Healthcare! is helping to develop the GP Super Clinics in the Blue Mountains, and they will bring together a range of medical practitioners and services to deliver better health care tailored to the needs and priorities of the community.

Kate Gunn, the CEO of Balance! Healthcare can already see the positive results. "Things are really getting underway, and as we proceed, we'll keep the community informed on this new era in primary healthcare,' she says. 'Patients are starting to notice the difference in service. They are enjoying a holistic approach, which saves them time and frustration by having their conditions treated in one, easy location'.

The Blackheath Family Medical Centre is located at 110 Wentworth Street, Blackheath. Dr Jones is available for appointments by calling 4787 8225.

---

For further information, please call our media contact:

Ms Kate Gunn: CEO Balance! Healthcare

0411 466 080